

Lecture on
100 Years of the African National Congress

by
Dr. Essop Pahad

27 April 2012, New Delhi

The Institute of Social Sciences organised a special lecture on “100 Years of the African National Congress” by Dr. Essop Pahad on 27 April 2012. The lecture was well attended by distinguished academicians, eminent personalities, and students from Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. The participants had a thought provoking and meaningful interaction with Dr. Essop Pahad who, from historical perspective, dwelt deeply on some of the issues that both South Africa and India are facing. He emphasised on what the political parties need to learn from their mistakes of the past to create a society free from discrimination.

Dr. Essop Pahad, former Minister in the Presidency, South Africa & Struggle Icon is delivering the lecture on 100 Years of the African National Congress. Also seen (from left): Dr. George Mathew, Chairman, ISS, Dr. Ash Narain Roy, Director, ISS and His Excellency Mr. H.M. Majeke, South African High Commissioner to India.

Dr. Ash Narain Roy delivering the Welcome Address. Also seen from left: Dr. George Mathew and Dr. Essop Pahad

Dr. George Mathew addressing the gathering